

St. Patrick School Passion Of Poetry

Six St. Patrick School students will be published authors this year when Creative Communications (<http://www.poeticpower.com/poetry.php>), launches its fall anthology of student poetry. Their contest, Poetic Power, is run by teachers and educators and is open to all schools in Canada and the United States. It accepts entries from Kindergarten to Grade 12 in poetry and essays. The fall deadline for entries was December 6th with the book launch scheduled in May.
