

O'Gorman's Catholic Parent Council Presents:

Cybernannies – Internet Filtering For Parents

Michael Pollon, O'Gorman High School's Parent Council Chair, realized over 4 years ago that as a parent with some networking experience, he needed to take stronger action to prevent his young children from mistakenly viewing inappropriate websites on the internet. Mr. Pollon's presentation will show parents what led him to install Internet content filtering software in all his home computers. With Facebook and Social Networking becoming popular today, Mr. Pollon will explain how he uses the features of the filtering software for these forums and will provide a live demonstration. You will understand what concerns a parent should have about children using the internet and what tools are available to guide and protect your children online.
